REPORT OF THE PUBLIC RECORD COMMISSION.

The Hon. Foster M. Voorhees, Acting Governor:

The undersigned, having been appointed by the Governor, July, 1897, the Public Record Commission authorized by Chapter 105, of the Laws of 1897, entitled "An Act in relation to public records in this State," approved April 9, 1897, respectfully report to your Excellency:

Although the Eastern and Western Divisions of New Jersey were united into one Province, under a Royal Governor, in 1702, each Division retained its own capital, at Perth Amboy and Burlington, respectively, where the records relating to each were kept, and where the Legislature held alternate sessions, as a rule. When the seat of government of the State of New Jersey was located at Trenton, by act of the Legislature passed November 25, 1790, the records of conveyances and of wills were transferred from Burlington and Perth Amboy to Trenton, as soon as proper quarters were provided for them at the new capital.

The records of warrants and surveys were retained in the offices of the Registers of East and West Jersey, respectively, at Perth Amboy and Burlington.

The records of the early government, as far as they have been preserved in New Jersey, are principally in the books of Patents, Deeds and Commissions, in the Secretary of State's Office, at Trenton. The same books also contain the earliest records of conveyances of lands in New Jersey. They also include a great variety of matter. A brief description of these records is appended to this report, embracing notes of some of the entries to be found in these ancient volumes. It is apparent that a thorough analytical index of the first eight or ten books would be of the greatest interest and value.

Under a law enacted in 1719, marriage licenses were required in cases where the banns were not proclaimed from the pulpit or set up on the church door. The contracting parties were obliged to give bond that there was no legal impediment to the marriage, and these bonds were transmitted to the seat of government. There are about 10,000 of these marriage bonds filed in the Secretary of State's office. Some years ago they were arranged and bound in alphabetical order, and an index to them was prepared in two large volumes, one of males and one of females. This index is now being printed as one of the volumes of the New Jersey Archives.

The records of wills for New Jersey prior to 1804 are all in the Secretary of State's office.

The general indexes to the deeds and wills are badly worn and were always imperfect and badly arranged. New indexes are greatly needed. If ordered they should be printed. They could be printed at less cost than entering them in books, and enough copies could be sold to pay for the expense.

Your commissioners desire to call especial attention to the remarkable fact that there does not exist in New Jersey a complete set of the laws of the Colony, Province and State; nor is there known to exist anywhere a complete record of the Legislative proceedings from 1665.

A very full report on this subject is appended, including an approximately complete bibliography of the printed volumes of Legislative Proceedings to 1776, and Laws of New Jersey to 1800, as found in the State Library and elsewhere.

It is of the utmost importance that the sets of these books in the State Library should be perfected as far as possible.

In Massachusetts, New York and Pennsylvania the Legislatures have taken measures to complete their sets of similar publications for their respective States. New York has just finished re-printing all her laws from the earliest times until 1800. Massachusetts and Pennsylvania are prosecuting a like work. We strongly recommend that these examples be followed by New Jersey.

We also desire to call attention to the appended description of the extremely interesting manuscript volumes in the State Library made up of claims for damages sustained by the inhabitants of New Jersey at the hands of the contending armies during the Revolution.

There are many other records of value and interest in the State House of which we hope to present some account in a future report.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Trenton, March 1, 1898.

HENRY S. HAINES,

DESCRIPTION OF RECORDS IN THE OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE.

Description of Records in the Office of the Secretary of State.

I.

RECORDS OF CONVEYANCES, ETC., FOR EAST JERSEY.

These consist of thirty-four volumes, which have been substantially and neatly rebound within a few years, and have been renumbered consecutively. Originally they were nearly all lettered, but in a confusing manner. However, as they have been constantly cited by their original designations it is proper to preserve the latter. The list is as follows, giving the former lettering and the new numeration:

The earlier volumes, especially, of this series, are of the most miscellaneous character, containing a vast fund of information regarding the manners and customs of the first settlers, the methods of government, the laws enacted, the administration of justice, the appointments of officers, probate of wills, administration of estates, patents from the Lords Proprietors, and from their successors, the East Jersey Proprietaries, deeds, contracts, and all the official records pertaining to the settlement and government of the Colony. A brief analysis of some of the volumes will give a better idea of their contents, and of their value legally and historically.

LIBER No. I of DEEDS, &c.

This is a stumpy folio, of which 155 pages are written on in front, and 183 pages from the other end.

Inserted is the record or copy of an Indian deed for land in and about "Elizabeth Town commonly called by the name of Arthur Kull," dated "the twenty-eight day of October in the sixteenth year of the reign of Our Sovereign Lord Charles y^e 2^{do} "from Mattano, Manamowagoue, & Cowescomen to John Bayley, Daniel Denton and Luke Watson of Jamico in Long Island." This is the Indian deed for Elizabethtown, the grantees subsequently claiming to hold their lands adversely to the Lords Proprietors and the East Jersey Proprietaries.

There follow a number of deeds or patents confirming deeds for lands at Newark and vicinity, dated March 10, 1677.

On the reverse side of the same volume is inserted a leaf setting forth the proceedings of "a private session of the court held at Woodbridge, February 6, 1699," when Sambo, a negro, was "then tryed for ffellonie," on "an indictment found against him for burning his master's barn." He was "Acquitt by A Jury," and it was ordered that he "showld bee Returned to his Master Dirreck Middach upon his payment of the just charges which amounted to the sune of five pounds three shillings & Eight pence, And if the sd Dirreck showld not come for him & pay the sd charges within two weeks After hee was Acquitt by the Jury, that then the sd Negro be sold at A publick vendue & After payment of the charges the overplus to bee Returned to his Master. And Whereas there is now produced a Letter from his sd Master to John Barclay then Clerk of the sd Court wherein he refuses to pay the Above charges & sayes hee Expects his sd Negro to be Returned free of Coasts, And whereas there is further charges accrued for keeping & cureing the sd Negro since the Above sd Court which must Also bee paid

"Therefore the Justices doe now order that John Barclay Clerk of the sd Court shall give publick Notice to the severall Townes in this Countie & to the said Master; that the sd Negro Sambo shall (upon the 4th of March next ensuing the date hereof) out by the Month to any persone or persones who may give most Wages for his services until the Above bill of Costs & charges which have since accrued be paid."

It seems odd to us of this day that the master should be obliged to pay the costs of trying his own negro, for burning his own barn, when the negro was "Acquitt." Sambo was evidently not considered to have any rights in the premises.

On page 1 of this volume is recorded an indenture, dated November 20, in the nineteenth year of Charles II., between Christopher Young of Elizabeth Town, planter, and Dennis White of the same town, planter, acknowledged June 8, 1668.

There is also a bill of sale of the Indian purchase, December 11, 1666.

LIBER No. 2 of WARRANTS, PATENTS, &c.

According to a receipt of J. Basse, dated November 16, 1705, recorded in Book I of East Jersey Deeds, p. 94, this was a book "containing warrants and certificates or Returns of Surveys, pages 146 in one side, and in the other side patents of lands from 1678 to 1682, pages 50." It is in the office of the Surveyor General at Perth Amboy.

LIBER, No. 3 of DEEDS, &c.

This is a folio volume with 177 pages written up in front, and 38 pages from the reversed side.

Recorded in the early pages is a commission by Gov. Philip Carteret, to Capt. Nicholas Verlett, to constitute and appoint a court of judicature for the inhabitants of Bergen, Gemoenepaen, Ahasymes and Hooboocken; Verlett to be President of said Court, with the advice and assistance of Herman Smeman, Caspar Stynmets of Bergen, Elyas Michaels of Gemoenepaen, to try suits under the sum of ten pounds sterling. Dated August 30, 1665.

Also commissions to Capt. Nicholas Verlett—as captain of a foot company listed or to be listed in the towns or villages of Bergen, Gemoenepaen, Asymus and Hooboocken and other places in their jurisdiction. Dated August 6, 1665.

Caspar Stynmets—as lieutenant of the same company. Dated August 6, 1665.

Adrian Post—an ensign of the same company. Dated August 6, 1665.

Also an order against selling strong drink to the Indians. October 16, 1665.

Nicholas Verlett—to be one of the Council. November 1, 1665.

John Ogden—to be one of the Council. November 1, 1665. Recalled.

Divorce granted by Governor Carteret to Claes Pietersen, of Gemoenepaen, from his wife, Grietie Maes. They were married in 1654. She left him in 1658 and went to Holland. Divorce granted January 20, 1665. "Recalled and of no effect."

(Signed) Robert Vicars, Secretary.

Petition—entered in full, for a tract of 2,000 acres of upland upon the north side of Raritan river.

Bill of sale by the Indians on the Matawong alias Millstone river, to Elizabeth Carteret, Baroness, the Lady Proprietrix of said province, in fee, August 20, 1681.

LIBER A of PATENTS, &c.

This is a very large folio. The paper has been folded so that it presents the appearance of having been in four folds. It contains 442 pages. Some of the entries are as follows:

"The Entries of Publick Charters Pattents, Deeds Writings and things of and belonging to, Persons of East New Jersey being the continuance of publick Entrys from the death of Capn James Bollen late Secretary of the Province who departed this life the day of March Anno Domni 1682."

LIBER D of DEEDS, &c.

Same to same, commission as attorney-at-law, November 15, 1688.

Will of Joseph Walters, of Newark, "in the Government of New England," November 15, 1688. Admitted to probate by Sir Edmond Andros.

These are interesting evidences of the sway exercised over

New Jersey by Andros, in disregard of the claim of the East Jersey Proprietaries to the right of government over the province.

Will of Thomas Eatton, of Shrewsbury, Monmouth County, 11th 9th mo. 1688.

Several other wills.

Letters of administration on various estates.

Assignments from apprentices of Thomas Warne, of Amboy, to John Kaighin, also late apprentice, 7th 12th mo. 1688-9.

Several Indian Deeds, and other instruments, to 1694.

LIBER E of EAST JERSEY DEEDS, &c.

Wills, Deeds, Letters of Administration, Powers of Attorney, Patents, Letters of Guardianship, etc., 546 pages.

LIBER F.

This is a very large folio, of 743 pages. It consists mostly of Deeds, but also contains some Wills, Patents, Letters of Guardianship, and Agreements. It is popularly supposed that the ink and the paper used in these ancient volumes were so superior as to guarantee their perpetual existence. Some of the leaves of this book, however, are nearly eaten away by the corrosion of the ink. The last entry in the volume is dated September 15, 9th William Third.

Liber G—is a large folio, of 370 pages, mostly deeds, and patents, with some wills, and letters of administration. The last entry is dated April 2, 1702.

Liber H—is a small folio of 222 pages, mostly deeds and patents, but with some Indian deeds and a few wills. It was formerly a part of Liber No. 3, but separated therefrom, as it is supposed, December 14, 1741.

Liber I—a folio of 487 pages, almost entirely deeds.

Liber K small—119 pages of deeds.

P. 120 contains the disclaimer of Anthony Pintard, one of the defendants, to the bill of complaint of Michael Kearny and Sarah his wife [daughter of Governor Lewis Morris], complainants, etc., by Joseph Murray, attorney, entered July, 1727.

Liber A 2—License by Governor Robert Hunter to John Harrison, to assemble the Indians together and agree with them for certain lands, December 2, 1715. There are 266 pages in this book; 50 or 60 pages are nearly eaten away by the corrosive action of the ink. In consequence, they are very fragile, and some of them are torn.

The other volumes of the series consist almost entirely of records of land conveyances.

Liber No. 8, however, or Liber C of Commissions, is of an entirely different and most interesting and important character. It contains the commissions of several hundred persons to civil offices in the province, and some military commissions, also; it likewise contains charters of churches and other corporations, patents setting off new townships, with their boundaries, and very many other instruments of the greatest variety and interest.

Of the same character are Liber No. 18, or C 2, Liber No. 21, or C 3, and Liber AB. Liber AAA contains commissions issued under the Constitution of 1776.

II.

RECORDS OF WILLS.

Formerly, wills were recorded in the office of the East Jersey Proprietaries at Perth Amboy, and in the office of the West Jersey Proprietaries at Burlington. After the State Capital was located at Trenton, these records were placed in the office of the Secretary of State, and the record of wills was continued without reference to the Divisions of the State. The practice of recording wills in the Secretary of State's office was continued until 1804, when Surrogates were appointed for the respective counties, in whose offices the wills of persons dying in such counties were recorded.

The records of Wills in the office of the Secretary of State comprise fifty-two volumes: Liber A to Liber M, of East Jersey Wills, and Liber No. 1 to Liber No. 40 of West Jersey Wills. The earlier volumes are divided between the two Divisions, but the later volumes contain records of wills in chronological order of their probate, without reference to locality.

The original wills were required to be deposited in the office where they were recorded, and most of them are to be found in the Secretary's office. There are many wills which have never been recorded, but are simply filed in the office. The original wills offered for probate since 1804, after being recorded in the office of the Surrogate where the testator died, have always been filed in the office of the Secretary of State, where they are now carefully arranged by counties, alphabetically and chronologically, so that it is possible to find in a few minutes any original will that has been filed in the public offices during more than two hundred years.

III.

In addition to the foregoing are the following books of records, also relating to West Jersey:

Book A of Revell's Book of Surveys.

The books of deeds contain also mortgages, commissions, official bonds, and other instruments.

Gloucester Deeds—Liber A, 1G, Gloucester Deeds and Surveys 3, Gloucester C, Gloucester Deeds 2.

On the reverse side is a record of deeds, contracts, list of servants indentured, etc.

Salem Surveys, No. 1. 73 pages.

Salem Surveys, No. 2. 18 pages, 1679-1683.

This seems to have been a common-place book and docket of James Nevill, Register of West Jersey, Justice of the Peace, etc. It contains mortgages, wills, powers of attorney, bills of sale, lettings (with minute descriptions of the premises, houses and other buildings, orchards, cattle, etc.), contracts, affidavits, averments, pleadings in law suits and the famous Indian Interpreter—a list of more than two hundred Indian words and phrases, with English translations. Mr. Nevill has also written herein an elaborate essay on the right of trial by jury, and even lapsed into poetry to express his contempt of certain neighbors who seem to have differed with him on this subject:

"A River's mouth, is bigger than its head,
So would the mouth of Pensylvania Spread,
over Superio^r: over all his peers,
over the English, finns, Sweads, & Min-heres,
Most horrible, monstrous, & most Barberous, hee, renders known, & Common law, to be,
his will is, right or wrong, be't plaintife or defend't should have the Cause, if gold be at y^e end ont, for Averice & pride, he's not the least,
money's the thing, in th' bear's nose, & ring,
'tis that Commands the Beast"

"Standing waters will breed corruption & be offensive if it be not sometimes changed. And for men to be too long in Office of government: is to have too little regard to others or the Dignity of the state"

Here is also set forth an averment dated 3-19-1688, by Peter

Bild beeke relative to some peculiar transactions which occurred "at the wake when Laus Hendrickson at ffines-point dyed and Stevens daughter Annaka Yermes and Wolla Woussen" were there, when Annaka made a remark about "a young Youdas wch is by interpretacon a divill in finns language"—showing that they had wakes in the Finnish settlement, and that the inhabitants at Finns' Point in 1688 still used their native tongue.

APPENDIX B.

NEW JERSEY LEGISLATIVE PROCEEDINGS.

New Jersey Legislative Proceedings.

The Proceedings of the various Legislative bodies of New Jersey during the Proprietary or Colonial period appear in all sorts of out-of-the-way places: in the records of the Freehold or Middletown Town Meetings; in the records of the Monmouth County Court of Common Right; in the records of the courts of Cape May, Salem, Burlington and Woodbury; in the records of the Supreme Court, at Trenton; in the Books of Patents and Deeds in the office of the Secretary of State at Trenton, and perhaps elsewhere. In none of these records, however, is there a systematic series of minutes, detailing step by step the progress of legislation. They are merely fragmentary records, giving conclusions rather than details of how the business was transacted. I have made diligent and extended search and inquiry for any orderly and systematic record of the daily doings of any of these legislative bodies, but without success, with the possible single exception of the proceedings of the West Jersey Assembly, at Burlington, 25th of 9th mo., 1685, to 15th of 3d mo., 1686, recorded in a large folio endorsed "Concessions, &c., 1681 to 1699," in the Secretary of State's office, at Trenton. The Assembly of East Jersey held several meetings, between 1665 and 1698, the results of which we have in the form of the Acts passed at those sessions. The West Jersey Assembly similarly met from time to time and enacted various Acts for the government of that Division. There seems to have been some sort of legislative body for Fenwick's Colony, also, as appears by the records of the courts at Salem, and by sundry papers which have come down to us from Fenwick's time. The people of Monmouth Patent legislated for themselves, in town meeting, and their proceedings have been preserved in the ancient Town Book, which was printed in full in a local newspaper (the Monmouth Democrat, edited by Major James S. Yard) a few years ago. Their independence of the East Jersey Government was significantly asserted on one occasion, in 1698, when a member of Captain William Kidd's crew was arraigned for trial before the Supreme Court of the Colony of East Jersey, at Middletown. The accused admitted that he "had sailed" with Capt. Kidd, but when the Court proposed to punish him, the populace hastily assembled, and locked up the Supreme Court, the Governor and his Council, and kept them imprisoned for three days, by way of showing their contempt for the pretended authority of the East Jersey Government. Their own title had been derived from Gov. Andros, of New York, and when it suited their interest they were wont to base their rights not only of property but of local government upon this title. But what has become of the Minutes of the Assemblies of East Jersey and West Jersey? Were they sent home by some of the Proprietaries? Were they carried off by some of the early Governors, or Clerks? Did Gov. Andros take possession of them when he asserted his title to the government of New Jersey, after the reconquest or surrender of the Dutch, in 1674? Careful search in the records at Albany has failed to disclose the existence there of any of the New Jersey Assembly Minutes. From various references in the early volumes of the New Jersey Archives it is quite clear that considerable quantities of papers relating to the Proprietary or Colonial Government were delivered into the possession of Lord Cornbury (afterwards third Earl of Clarendon), when or after he assumed the reins of government over the united Provinces of East and West Jersey, in 1702. From the accounts we have of his habits it would not be strange to find that such records, if they did come into his hands, have disappeared, in all probability beyond recovery. A careful examination of the papers of the present Earl of Clarendon, which his Lordship kindly permitted to be made a few years ago, at my request, failed to disclose anything of the kind. However, the possibility of such records being discovered is illustrated by the fact that in 1871 there came to light the original manuscript Journal of the Governor and Council of East Jersey, 1682-1703, which had been preserved in private hands for no one knows how long.

The Minutes of the Assembly, or House of Representatives, of the Province of New Jersey, from the accession of Lord Cornbury, are preserved in the original manuscript volumes in the State Library, at Trenton. They are in stout folio volumes, substantially bound, and lettered on the back, A, B, C, D, E, F, G, with the period covered by each. The first volume, A, 1703-1710, was recovered at the same time and from the same hands as the Journal of the Governor and Council, above referred to. The other volumes extend over the following periods:

Liber B—December, 1710, to March, 1719.

C—March 7, 1721-2, to July 31, 1740.

D—October 2, 1741, to July 8, 1748.

E—October 21, 1748, to June 21, 1754.

F—October 1, 1754, to December 4, 1760.

G—March 27, 1761, to June 28, 1766.

H—June 9, 1767, to February 8, 1774.

I—February 8, 1774, to December 6, 1775.

I have not made a minute examination of these volumes, but my impression is, from what investigation I have been able to make, at odd times during many years past, that they are quite complete, and practically without a break.

The Journals of the Governor and Council were never printed in Colonial nor in Provincial times. The Journal of the Governor and Council of East Jersey, 1682-1702, when recovered in 1871, was ordered by the Legislature to be printed, but it was placed in inexpert hands, and the copying was carelessly done. It was reprinted with great care and accuracy in 1890, as Vol. XIII of the New Jersey Archives. The original manuscript Journals of the Governor and Council of the Province of New Jersey, 1702-1776, have disappeared, and are supposed to have been carried off by or under the direction of Gov. William Franklin, when he was arrested in 1776 by order of the Continental Congress. Contemporary copies were required to be made, by the instructions to the several Governors from time to time, and sent to the Home Government, in England. From these contemporary copies, now in the Public Record Office in London, the State of New Jersey caused copies to be made, in 1872-73, under the direction of the New Jersey Historical Society, and they have been printed as Vols. XIII (part), XIV, XV, XVI, XVII and XVIII of the New Jersey Archives.

The Assembly always asserted its absolute control over its own Minutes or Votes, and ordered them printed from time to time, by its own printer. No printed Votes are known to exist, however, prior to 1710, although it is probable that they were printed. Nor is there known to exist anywhere a complete set or series of the printed Votes of the Assembly. The only series at all approaching completion is in the State Library at Trenton. For these we are mainly indebted to the intelligent and well-directed zeal of David Brearley, Chief Justice of New Jersey, 1779-1789, who collected them with industry, carefully collated them and had them bound in order, so far as he was able to gather them together. He supplied many missing pages in manuscript, and numbered the series to correspond with the successive sittings of the Assembly, noting the missing numbers, also. He did the same service in collecting and arranging a very full series of the printed Acts of the Legislature, likewise. After his death his collection of Votes and Acts was acquired by the State, supplementing those already in hand. There are a few copies of the Votes of odd sittings of the Assembly in public libraries and in private hands, in America, but so far as I have been able to locate them, they are very few. Under the instructions to the Governors of New Jersey, they were required to send to the home government the printed Votes of the Assembly as issued. Hence, there is a very fair set in the Public Record Office in London, which, though not nearly as full as the set in the State Library, contains several copies lacking in the latter set. It does not appear, from the examination thus far made, that a perfect set of the Votes could be made up from all those known to exist.

The Votes of the Assembly were all printed in folio, and usually after each session. William Bradford, of New York, was the printer until about 1733; then Andrew Bradford, of Philadelphia, for a short time; then John Peter Zenger printed them, in 1738; Benjamin Franklin secured the appointment for 1740-1742. The printing then went to William Bradford, of Philadelphia, who retained it until 1754, when the work was awarded to James Parker, who had just set up his press at Woodbridge. Bradford again did the printing from the latter part of 1755 until the summer of 1756, when James Parker resumed the printing, which he retained until his death, in 1770. He was succeeded by Isaac Collins, at Burlington, who retained the position for twenty years.

In the following list I have noted the number of the Assembly, in the centre of the line, in Roman numerals; the number of the session of each Assembly in Arabic numerals at the side. With the Fourth Session of the Twenty-first Assembly a confusing plan was adopted of numbering each sitting of each session, the Fourth Session of the last two Assemblies under the Provincial Government having two or three distinct sittings, and so designated on the title-page of the printed votes. I have also indicated the printer and place of printing, and number of pages in each copy of the Votes in the State Library at Trenton. Also, by marginal reference, the copies preserved in the Public Record Office in London. The date of the beginning and ending of each session is given as printed on the title page, except in a few instances where it is not so printed, and is supplied from the contents, and indicated in brackets.

This handsome volume, generally known as Leaming and Spicer's Laws, was prepared under the authority of an act of Assembly passed in 1752, and is the largest work issued from the press of Wm. Bradford. Subscribers' names were first solicited in February, 1755, the compilers having spent nearly two years in its preparation. Three years more were consumed in printing, and it was not until May, 1758, that it was ready for delivery. Up to that time 170 copies had been subscribed for, and the editors say, in the Pennsylvania Journal, May 11, 1758, "a number of copies yet remain not subscribed for," and "any person may be supplied" until "the 17th of July next, after which we will not further extend the sale." See N. J. Archives, XXI., 197; and 14 N. J. Law Journal, 137. The volume was reprinted in 1881, at Somerville, N. J.

Acts of the General Assembly of the State of New Jersey Under the Constitution of 1776.

1776-1800.

The following description of these Acts is made from a set in the author's library. The Session Laws forming this set bear the autographs of Chief Justice Kinsey, Chief Justice Maskell Ewing, William Coxe, Jun., and other distinguished New Jersey lawyers, to whom they formerly belonged. These pamphlet Laws have been bound in three volumes. A former owner has painstakingly continued the paging in one series through the first volume, in ink. This continuous paging is given in parentheses in the following description. The several separate issues are numbered, as a matter of convenient reference.

The State Library has a complete set of these Laws. Other complete sets are rare.

APPENDIX E.

ARMY DEPREDATIONS IN NEW JERSEY DURING THE REVOLUTION.

Army Depredations During the Revolution.

Toward the close of the Revolutionary War, there was an expectation that the damages committed by the British armies in their marches through New Jersey would constitute a valid claim against the British Government. The Legislature accordingly, by an Act passed December 20, 1781, appointed three commissioners in each of the several counties to take proofs of such claims. These were made out in detailed lists of property, real and personal, destroyed or stolen by the invading soldiery, which lists were sworn to by the person claiming to have been damaged, or by his or her legal representative, and supported by the affidavit of one other person claiming to have personal knowledge of the facts.

In some cases the commissioners also took proofs of claims of losses alleged to have been sustained at the hands of the Continental Armies, with a view to presenting them to the Continental Congress.

It is needless to say that none of these claims were ever acknowledged or paid either by the British or by the United States Governments; but the lists of losses have been partially preserved and bound, and form several volumes. They are of great interest and value; not only because they indicate very clearly the devastations wrought by the invading armies, and show the routes taken by them, but because they indicate in the most vivid manner the social conditions and circumstances of the persons whose property was destroyed.

The following is a list of the places whose inhabitants presented such claims, which have been preserved and are now in the State Library:
